A Tradition of Caring

“In 1646, Vincent de Paul inspired his volunteers to bring more than food—they brought kindness, cheer, and care to those in need. Today, Meals on Wheels continues this tradition, delivering meals, companionship, and support to help people live independently and happily in their own homes.”

Limited government funding for Meals on Wheels means increasing reliance upon the generosity of volunteers, donors, and benefactors. Bequests are a meaningful way to ensure the continuance of quality care for frail older people and younger people with disabilities, helping them remain in the place they are happiest—their own homes.
